David E. Rowland
President

Dear UGP Customer,

I want to personally apologize for the late notice of our changes to the curriculum. There are several reasons why that happened, but it is irrelevant at this point. Regrettably, the info should have gone out sooner.

There also are several reasons we decided to remove ourselves from the International Sunday School Lessons. One involved cost effectiveness. The biggest one was doctrinal differences. For example, in a lesson on Romans 1 very important verses were omitted from the lesson (verses 24 through 27). These clearly deal with current-day sin that is now deemed acceptable. God never changes His mind about sin.

We have developed our own seven-year scope and sequence to take a person through the Bible. This replaces the International Sunday School Lessons. The format in our books did not change.

The adults and children's material is now separated in its content. Children's material (junior and below) will focus on their age level and emphasize more Bible stories and basics. Adults will do more in-depth and difficult studies like Ezekiel and Leviticus.

We want you to know we are committed to a fundamental, literal interpretation of Scripture. Please know that we value your patronage.

In Christ,

David E. Rowland
